A photograph of a glowing solenoid coil, likely a small electric motor or a demonstration of electromagnetic induction. The coil is made of many turns of wire and is mounted on a rectangular brick base. The coil is illuminated from within, creating a bright yellow and orange glow. Two wires are connected to the coil, extending to the right. The entire setup is placed on a dark, circular surface. A watermark "uihm.com" is overlaid on the image in a yellow, sans-serif font.
